LIVING THE ECSTATIC LIFE!

A Journey into the Bhakti Path of Love

Retreat with David Newman

Over the weekend, David will share the joy and power of music as sound healing, integrating the ancient Sanskrit mantra practice known as kirtan, or group chanting, with his inspirational songs of hope, peace, and universal love. Combining the ecstasy of sound and the healing aspects of devotion, David will invite you to connect to your voice, your heart, and your gifts, and will help you to taste the ecstatic joy that arises when you are invited to fully express yourself. The ecstatic experience, often reveals itself as love for love’s sake, or unconditional love, and is what David calls the “all is well experience”. Even just a taste of this radical well being has the potential to unlock your innate bliss and becomes the fuel that ignites the ecstatic life within you.

In his teachings, David will unpack the principles and practices of the bhakti path of love that will help you to keep your heart open in all of life’s situations, especially the challenging ones. David will support you in shifting from the habituated reflex of closing your heart when the going gets rough, to keeping your heart open as a natural and effortless impulse. This practice of keeping your heart open no matter what, is the focus and heart of David’s teachings, and what David calls “living bhakti”.

Consider this weekend a gentle and joyful nudge in the direction of love, and an opportunity to recognize how good it feels to be home in your heart. Join us for music, chanting, joy, and heart centered wisdom, and you’ll be on your way to living the ecstatic life!
